Tom Winterer Senior Project Architect

As a Senior Project Architect for Genesis Architecture, Tom Winterer plans and designs architectural interiors for multi-tenant office space throughout the Twin Cities metro area. A detail-oriented professional with more than 30 years of experience, Tom is a hands-on communicator who believes developing a thorough understanding of his clients is the critical first step in creating a well-functioning design.

Tom has recently been appointed to assist the property management team of International Centre with ongoing design support services. Other property management and commercial real estate companies that work with Tom include REIT Management Research LLC, Winthrop Commercial and Kimco Realty Corporation.

Throughout his career, Tom has designed projects in Kalispell, Montana; Jacksonville, Florida; and the Twin Cities, Minnesota. His work has included replanning office space for Ramsey County Government Center West in downtown St. Paul, interiors at Josten's corporate headquarters, and several Kinko's copy centers.

Tom is a trusted professional who has an excellent reputation for serving the best interests of landlords and their tenants. He understands that seeing the big picture correctly demands attention to the details.
